

Corrigendum to

“Agricultural peatlands: towards a greenhouse gas sink – a synthesis of a Dutch landscape study” published in Biogeosciences, 11, 4559–4576, 2014

A. P. Schrier-Uijl¹, P. S. Kroon², D. M. D. Hendriks³, A. Hensen², J. Van Huissteden⁴, P. A. Leffelaar⁵, F. Berendse¹, and E. M. Veenendaal¹

¹Nature Conservation and Plant Ecology, Wageningen University, Droevendaalse steeg 3a, 6708 PD Wageningen, the Netherlands

²Energy Research Centre of the Netherlands (ECN), Department of Air Quality and Climate Change, 1755 LE Petten, the Netherlands

³Deltares, Department of Soil and Groundwater Systems, Princetonlaan 6, 3584 CB Utrecht, the Netherlands

⁴Hydrology and Geo-Environmental Sciences, Faculty of Earth and Life Sciences, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, De Boelelaan 1085, 1081 HV Amsterdam, the Netherlands

⁵Plant Production Systems, Wageningen University, P.O. Box 430, 6700 AK, Wageningen, the Netherlands

Correspondence to: A. P. Schrier-Uijl (arina.schrier@planet.nl)

In the paper “Agricultural peatlands: towards a greenhouse gas sink – a synthesis of a Dutch landscape study” by A. P. Schrier-Uijl et al. (Biogeosciences, 11, 4559–4576, doi:10.5194/bg-11-4559-2014, 2014), one of the co-authors, P. A. Leffelaar, was missing. The corrected author list and affiliations are displayed above.