

Interactive comment on “Accumulation of nitrogen and organic matter during primary succession of Leymus arenarius dunes on the volcanic island Surtsey, Iceland” by G. Stefansdottir et al.

G. Stefansdottir et al.

bjarni@lbhi.is

Received and published: 19 August 2014

The authors thank for constructive and helpful comments and suggestions on the manuscript, both in the quick review and in the interactive discussion. We have made corrections to the final version paper to meet those comments/suggestions: I.e. We have added a point to the Disucssion that it would be interesting to further study the importance of the symbiotic mycorrhizal fungi on the Leymus roots in Surtsey.

Interactive comment on Biogeosciences Discuss., 11, 6591, 2014.

C4504