We appreciate the annotations submitted by anonymous referee #2 on June 22, 2015. Anonymous referee #2 identifies a valid concern regarding the potential confusion of terms used in the equations presented in the original manuscript by Hall et al. (2013) and those in our comment. The final version of our original submission will provide further clarification of these terms in order to minimize future confusion. Also, anonymous referee #2 suggests that pertinent information from our response to S. Thomas should also be included in our final version to avoid confusion of these topics as well. We also agree with this suggestion and will add this information to our final version of the comment. We expect that adding this information will result in some organizational changes to our work which should address the closing remarks by anonymous referee #2. Again, we would like to thank anonymous referee #2 for reviewing our work and providing critical feedback.
