Attached as supplement pdf you will find the list of comments for the manuscript bg-2015-428 by Zhang et al. I have still concerns about the suitability of this manuscript to the scope of Biogeosciences. Despite the authors made an effort to include some text for the discussion version of this manuscript, I still find it not suitable for this journal. I contributed anyway with general and specific comments to the current version of the manuscript that the authors may find helpful to improve the current version of the paper. Unfortunately, at this stage I cannot agree with the publication of this manuscript in this journal at its current form. For specific details, please see the
