Reviewer #1 and myself largely concur in that major revisions will be necessary before the paper becomes acceptable for publication in BG. The main problem I see is that the paper is largely unimaginative and that its potential has by far not been fully exploited.

Should the authors decide to submit a revision, this should be line numbered and accompanied by detailed reply to all our comments. Please also have any revision thoroughly be checked by a native speaker. I would like to draw the authors attention to the fact that, except for minor (technical) issues, I will not allow the revised paper to undergo a second major revision.
