Dear Dr. Müller,

We now have three reviews of your manuscript. All reviewers admit the scientific significance of your work indeed. However, they also raise a number of points that must be addressed in a revision. The revised manuscript will probably be acceptable, provided that you take into account the points brought forward by the reviewers.

We look forward to receiving your revised manuscript, along with a detailed response to each of the reviewers' comments and concerns. After that, we will send them to the reviewers again for final decision.

Thank you for submitting your interesting results to Biogeosciences.

Sincerely,

Koji Suzuki
