We thank the referee for these appreciative comments and are delighted that our paper has been found of value. Our response to the referee's comments are below. The Duprat paper is wrongly cited as Luis et al in line 448 and this will be corrected in the amended version. Line 321. We will add the following statement in brackets after 'figures'- (sufficient in view of the variations in the mass delivery estimates and analytical data). Line 347. We will clarify the % data as as requested.
