

Interactive comment on “Low methane concentrations in sediment along the continental slope north of Siberia: Inference from pore water geochemistry” by Clint M. Miller et al.

Clint M. Miller et al.

cmm10@rice.edu

Received and published: 1 December 2016

We thank this referee for a very thoughtful, constructive and detailed review. It is an exemplary review, which, of course, will take us some time to fully address. We generally agree with the commentary, and will promptly buy this person a round should they ever in the future identify themselves.

Interactive comment on Biogeosciences Discuss., doi:10.5194/bg-2016-308, 2016.