

In regards to the resubmission by Belshe et al., the revisions had significantly improved the manuscript. My comments were fairly addressed and the authors presented an acceptable balance between agreeing to, or arguing against my list of queries. I have no further comments for revisions and recommend the manuscript's acceptance for publication.