Interactive comment on "Riverine particulate C and N generated at the permafrost thaw front: case study of western Siberian rivers across a 1700-km latitudinal transect" by Ivan V. Krickov et al.

Anonymous Referee #1

The authors have addressed most of the concerns mentioned in my comments and I am looking forward to see the revised version of the manuscript that includes all the changes in the main body of the manuscript not just in the supplemental material.