Supplement: comparison of simulated oceanic CO profiles with the measured ones (for the same months and location). Dotted lines represent the observed profiles and continuous lines the model output. The standard deviation of the observation, when available, is shown around each observed profiles with the shaded area of the same color.