

Interactive comment on “From substrate to soil in a pristine environment – pedochemical, micromorphological and microbiological properties from soils on James Ross Island, Antarctica” by Lars A. Meier et al.

Lars Arne Meier

lars-arne.meier@uni-tuebingen.de

Received and published: 21 February 2019

Dear Referee #2,

I also want to thank you for your thoughtful comments on our paper. All comments aim to improve our manuscript, make the statements really clear and present them precisely to the reader. We will change the addressed parts, as proposed and repeat and add some analyses to clarify the points raised. After the Open Discussion phase is over, we will implement the changes mentioned above.

C1

Sincerely, Lars Arne Meier

Interactive comment on Biogeosciences Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/bg-2018-488>, 2018.

C2