Dear Referee #2,

We are grateful for the thorough review of the manuscript. We will gladly make most of the changes suggested. Our new findings will be carefully classified and compared to the scientific context which will further highlight the benefits of high frequency measurements. Our response to the comment is available by the link below, with the reviewer's comment (black) quoted first and followed by our response (red).

On behalf of all co-authors,

C1

Benedikt Werner
