

Interactive comment on “Effect of legume intercropping on N₂O emission and CH₄ uptake during maize production in the Ethiopian Rift valley” by Shimelis G. Raji and Peter Dörsch

Shimelis G. Raji and Peter Dörsch

peter.doersch@umb.no

Received and published: 19 August 2019

Due to a conversion error, figure 4d was lost. Please see the attached file for a correct version.

Interactive comment on Biogeosciences Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/bg-2019-303>, 2019.

Printer-friendly version

Discussion paper

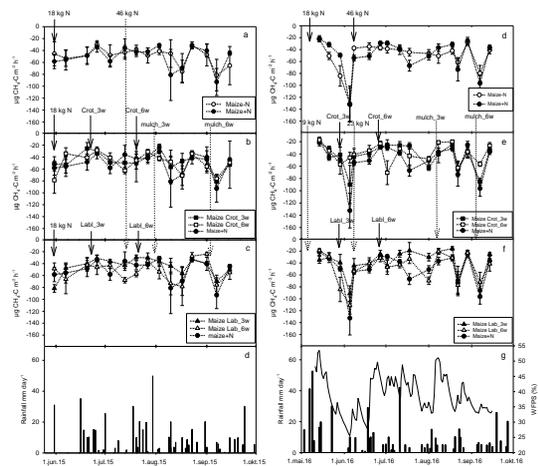

Figure 4: Mean CH₄ flux in 2015 (left panel) and 2016 (right panel) and daily rainfall and water-filled pore space (in 2016 only). Error bars show standard error of the mean (n=4). Figures a and d show emission rates in the absence of intercrops, b and e with crotalaria and c and f with lablab intercropping.

1

Fig. 1.

C2

Printer-friendly version

Discussion paper

