Dear authors,

I do agree with reviewer 1 in many of the issues raised, but have not had the time yet to write my detailed review report. In order to facilitate an efficient review process, I guess it would be more useful if I comment on the updated version of the manuscript, or should I write a report on the first draft, although the authors already addressed some of the issues? If you would like me to review the newer manuscript, please provide a PDF of the updated version that includes the changes made. So far, the PDF available seems to be the former version.
