

Co-Editor-in-Chief Decision: Publish subject to minor revisions (review by editor) (27 May 2021) by Christine Klaas

Comments to Dear authors, the Author: the associated editor recommended publication with minor revisions based on your answers to the reviewers. I am happy to accept this decision provided the manuscript has been revised accordingly including recommendations to improve the English.

Sincerely,

Associate Editor Decision: Publish subject to minor revisions (review by editor) (12 May 2021) by Chiara Santinelli

Comments to the Author:

The authors carefully addressed most of the issues raised by the 2 referees. They modified the paper accordingly to the referee comments and suggestions. I think that the paper is improved a lot and it is almost ready for publication.

I added edits and comments in the attached file (please check they did not change the sense of the sentences); however, I recommend a further check of the English before final publication.

Responses to Kristine Klass and Chiara Santinelli

We thanks the Co editor in chief and the associate editor for their comments. The suggestions for correction of edits and comments have been taken into account. For this we used the ms corrected according our first responses to both referees.

Thus some comments made by the associate editor were sometimes already done, as this revised version was checked by an english native speaker.

To summarize, the final version of the ms in track change mode (including also the supplement section in track change mode) shows how the ms was reorganized to respond to both the referees as well as the associate editor.
